Grant county is now more than a year behind in its interest payments and the holders of bonds are beginning to protest strenuously against the delay in the payment of coupons.

The fruit yield in this county this year is much below the average but quite a number of fruit growers will have fair crops. Fruit is now being brought into town in considerable quantities.

The Silver City band is practising several nights a week now and a public concert may be expected now in a few days. The boys are going to have a good band if hard work will count for anything.

Born, to the wife of W. H. Kilburn, on Monday, August 20, 1894 a girl. Mother and girl are getting along nicely but the father is out in the country and has not been heard from.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, below this city, by the Rev. W. S. Fitch, on Wednesday morning, August 15, 1894, Miss Annie Landrum to Adolph Witzel, of this city. The newly married pair left on the morning train for a short wedding trip.

The heavyweight base ballists of this city are practising ball playing and they are not going to allow any of the overgrown ball players in this section of New Mexico to beat them again as badly as they were beaten at Deming recently. They are not saying much about it but they are going to play a better game the next time.

Next year the office holders of this county will be obliged to work for less pay than they have been getting heretofore with the exception of the county commissioners who will receive more pay than they are now getting. The new

Within the past few days there have been general rains in this part of the territory and grass is starting up nicely on the ranges. Up to the first of this month there had been but very little rain in the southern half of the territory, the ranges were parched and grass was short except in the mountains and in places far removed from water. In the valley of the Rio Grande the losses have been heavy for want of water to irrigate the cultivated land. Ten days ago grapes were dying on the vines and the fruit growers were very much discouraged at the prospect, but Robert Black, who returned from Las Vegas last week, where he had been to inspect the substation of the agricultural college, says that there have been good rains recently in many parts of the Rio Grande valley and that while fruit is too far advanced to be benefitted much, there will be a better crop than was expected even ten days ago. In this county the rains have been general and there is yet there is great depression in kinds of business and that there is little doing there in the manufacturing line. Business men, however, are hopeful and confidently expect an early revival in business. Manufacturers are only keeping up with orders and are not attempting to accumulate stocks of manufactured goods, while merchants are buying carefully and only keeping sufficient stock for current demands. The general disposition seems to be to turn everything into money and to lay out nothing for goods that cannot be immediately disposed of. There is considerable talk about silver but the general sentiment in the east appears to be that this government can do nothing with the question without the assistance of other powers, and that it would be futile to attempt to restore silver to its former position by the passage of a free coinage bill.
